AI DOCTOR MEDICAL REPORT

Generated On: 2026-07-01 22:48:53.340752

Patient Symptoms

No, I haven't taken any new medications or supplements in the past week.

Doctor Assessment

With what I see, I think you have a skin condition characterized by red, scaly patches on your hands and arms, which could be eczema or psoriasis, given the presence of redness, scaling, and possible itching. To manage your symptoms, I recommend applying moisturizers to keep the skin hydrated, using gentle soaps, and taking lukewarm baths; over-the-counter creams or ointments containing hydrocortisone may also help, and if the condition persists or worsens, you should consult a doctor to determine the best course of treatment. The medical report is now available. Please download it for your records. Severity : ■ LOW Recommendation : Monitor symptoms and seek care if they worsen.

Disclaimer

This report is AI generated and should not replace consultation with a licensed medical professional.